CATHOLIC CENTENARY.

Impressive Ceremonies Held in the City of Baltimore. BALTIMORE, November 10th .- The most mportant group of events in the history of he Catholic Church in America was celebrated here this morning. It was the com-mencement of the triple celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the appointment of the first American Catholic Bishop, the inauguration of the first congress of Catholic laymen held in the United States and the dedication of the new National University for Catholics. Ten thousand strangers were in Baltimore to witness the spectacle -four times as many people, not counting the local Catholics, as could possible be ac-commodated in the local cathedral, where the initial scenes were to be witnessed.

The ball in which the priests assembled was elaborately decorated. Above the doors were the Papal colors—yellow and

When all was ready 600 clergy, walking two and two, emerged, clad in white surplice and black cassock and berettas.

At the doorway of the Cardinal's house and leading up the broad steps, with sabres and polished belmets glittering in the bright morning sunlight, were double lines of guards. Here again the Papal colors fretting and crying, and her brother was tains about 26,000 acres, and is occupied by mass, next to the consecration, was the conferring of the Papal blessing. Mass ended with a special intercession for the Pope, chanted by all the clergy. The first oration of the centenary was delivered by Arch-bishop Ryan of Phila-delphia. The patriotic spirit of the Archbishop's address and his tribute to the recent devotee of the colored people and Indians seemed to awaken general enthusiasm, but the most telling effect was aroused when he vindicated the rights of Catholic editors, if need be, to freely comment on the failings of the clergy. In the course of his adoress Archbishop Ryan said: "Of all the false charges alleged against the Cathlic Church, the most senseless and unfounded is that she fears science and is an enemy of education. Her opponents almost in the same breath charge her with being a foe at once and a monopolizer world to fear intellectual progress, whether this cowardly opposition was to the Church during the brief but inglorious existence of 'Know-Nothing.'

"The thoughtful men of the nation who opposed this party were driven into the ranks of the church's defenders. Imortant conversions and the clearing away of much ignorance and prejudice were the results of the civil war, which so retarded the nation and all religious institutions, in-cluding our own, and split up all non-Catholic denominations into Northern and outhern organizations, showed forth the united power of the Catholic Church and also exhibited her marvelous and well-regular to within a few hours of his death, and ulated charity. Hence, since the war, there is a great change in popular sentiment in relation to the Catholic Church. In addition to this, it must be re-membered that Catholics and Protest-

But we must also bear in mind there unmindful of the zeal and limited re-sources for its exercise by the Southern trial. , nor the great self-sacrifice of Indian Missionaries; but as I believe that negro slavery and unjust treatment of the Indians are the two great blots upon American civilization, so I feel that in the church also the most reasonable cause for run into the hot boilers caused the exploration. regret in the past century is the fact that more could have been done for the same

It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little chetub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the boweis, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from technique or other causes. "The Archbishop continued, addressing the laity: "And on this great historic occasion you must not be mere observers, but "Let us now in the name of God resolve to make reparation for those shortcoming. "When Bishop Carroll was consecrated in 1790, the entire population of the United States was little more than 4,000,000. The Catholic population was estimated at 40,000. There is now a Catholic population of 9,000. 000; 8,000 priests, 10,500 churches and changles 27 semiparies and 650 calleges and calleges an chapels, 27 seminaries and 650 colleges and academies, and over 3 000 parish schools. "The remarkable statistics quoted become marvelous when we consider the antago nism of the great majority of the people to the Catholic Church.

"As in pagan times, in the history of this country the Catholic Church's perfect organization was feared as possibly dangerous to the State, as a great and numerous party afraid to act in the open."

The rendering of the Te Dium by the choir and orchestra brought the memorable Service to a close.

This afternoon there was a banquet at which all the visiting prelates were present. Addresses were made by Archbishop Satalli, Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Taschereau and Bishop Montes de Ca of Mexico. # INDIANS AS SOLDIERS.

Major William Powell proposes in the United States Magazine that reservation Indians be enlisted in the regular army. He poys. This sounds well, but the scheme is not to be commended when a second thought is given to it. In the first place, the American Indian will not make a good soldier. The confinement, precision and disciplinary necessities of the army are repulsive to him, and barrack life soon beinterlinked with the idea of perfect freedom of action. In the second place, he does not feel, and with a very few exceptions cannot be made to feel, an interest in our civilization and institutions. Whatever tends to make attractive, beautiful, desirable and comfortaole in a community is a matter of general concernment. Take from beautiful Sacra-mento its shade-trees, shrubbery and flowers that now so profusely adorn it, and for at least six months of the year it would be about as undesirable a place of residence as the Desert of Sahara. In many of the Eastern towns and cities, otably in New England, there are munic ipal laws governing the culture of shade-

Such a law should obtain in Sacramento, and should be rigidly and impartially enforced. The Supreme Court has rendered a decision that, so soon as stated, will be seen to accord with sound reason. ### ETNA PERRY'S DISAPPEARANCE.

A Woodland Gentleman Gives a Some what Different Version of It. For the past week the San Francisco papers have been full of special dispatches regarding the "mysterious disappearance" of Miss Etna Perry, a Woodland lass. simple elegance of the performance. It was a deeply interesting exhibition to the lover of musical art. In novelty of harmonies and richness of modulations, and monies and richness of modulations, and eloped, murdered and relegated to a thou-sand and one other dreadful fates. She had started out to visit friends at Dixon, but had never reached her destination, and from that on all was mystery and conjec-> eral days' absence, stepped off the train at Woodland and repaired to her home, unmurdered, unshanghaied and uneloped. When asked for an explanation she made the following statement: "I went to Dixon on October 22d to visit my friend Miss Annie Cushing. For some cause she did not meet me, and while I was sitting in the waiting-room I picked up the Examine and glancing through the 'want ads.' I noticed that a dressmaker in the city wanted help, and as I had worked at dressmaking I concluded to go and apply for the posibrother-in-law John Hughes, of Capay valley, but for some reason both letters miscarried. My brother-in-law got his day before vesterday and came to the city im mediately. Mother's has not yet arrived. As soon as I found that they did not know where I was and were very anxious about me, I came home. While I was in the city I stayed with Mrs. Jacobs, and that is all there is of this big sensation. I acted just as any other woman who is of age would do. I am very sorry that the papers have made such a talk about the matter, and am more sorry that my parents have been in such mental anguish about me, but I supposed they knew of my where abouts all the time.' This quieted matters, and the sensation was apparently shelved. A RECORD-UNION reporter sauntered into the Golden Eagle Hotel yesterday, and one

"Well, yes; rather," replied the gentle-man. "But you newspaper fellows were "Just what I say. The story, in truth, is rather a different affair from what has been that she never went near Dixon or San Francisco, and never intended to, wouldn't it? But there is no need of mystifying you. Sit down and I'll tell you the correct business. Etna Perry's mother was mar-ried twice, and by her first husband had a son, who is now in Port Townsend. About a week or two ago this son was arrested up here for embezzlement, and his case i now before the Courts-you probably read all about it in the press dispatches at the time. Now, very few people in Woodland knew that this was Mrs. Perry's son, and she was not desirous of having it known. He needed assistance, and the mother did not dare to go herself, for fear of the talk that would follow, and so she planned the his mysterious disappearance of the daughter, His so that the latter might go to Port Townsend and aid the son financially and otherwise. The daughter went, did up the business whom Americans have so many years been as to the real facts in the case. Now, that's the mysterious Etna Perry story in a nutshell-somewhat different from the others

BALLOONING AND BASEBALL

THE SACRAMENTOS DOWN THE OAK-LANDS AT THE BAY.

San Francisco Bats Out Another Victory at Stockton-Dreary Amateur Ball.

Amateur ball in a League city never was base hits made off him well scattered. The a success, and never will be. No amount score resulted: Reports. 9; Santa Rosas, 1. of extra inducements will inveigle the people to the grounds, not even a balloon

This proved the case at Snowflake Park yesterday.

One week ago the park was crowdedbut it was a League game. On that occa. shot, with the following result: sion, too, Professor Price was advertised to make an ascension in a hotair balloon and subsequently drop from the clouds in a parachute. The wind was the clouds in a parachute. The wind was high, though, and the Professor postponed his aerial flight until yesterday. A great | making the following good scores : many people, including the Professor, thought that the balloon had all to do with the big crowd of a week ago, and the balloonist was accordingly confident that another great crowd would worry through an amateur game, just for the privilege of seeing the balloon ascension. He even laughed at the idea of Gilmore and his big band affecting the attendance. But yesterday was an off-day. The baseball exhibition was of the school-boy order, the attendance amounted to about fifty and the "grand balloon ascension" was a miserable failure.

The Brightons and All-Americas, the opposing nines, proved to be a mixture of all the amateur clubs of Sacramento and vicinity, with a couple of shelved professionals thrown in. Batting was the rule of the day, and so was wrangling among the players. Most of the spectators took pos-session of the diamond and started up little games of their own, in order to keep warm. The Brightons and All-Americas insisted upon playing eleven innings, as they were having lots of fun.

Shortly before 5 o'clock the aeronaut halffilled his balloon with smoke, and, cutting the anchor rope sailed upward-but not very far upward. He just cleared the right-field fence, and in less than a minute was safe on terra firma again, not even having time to get in his work with the parachute.

OAKLAND TROUNCED. The Sacramentos Play Gilt-Edged Ball

at the Bay. San Francisco, November 10th .- The Sacramentos played nearly perfect ball today, and came within an ace of shutting out the Oaklands. In the fourth inning when two men were out and a man on first, the base-runner tried to steal second and Carroll had him thrown out, but Newbert, after touching the runner, dropped the ball. Then Oakland scored two runsall they made. It looked like a shut out when they made two runs. In the eighth, with the bases full, Carroll made a pretty single, sending in the winning runs. ### ANOTHER FOR SAN FRANCISCO. An Exciting Contest With the Stockton at Banner Island.

STOCKTON, November 10th. - To-day's the start to the finish. Van Haltren and Clarke were the opposing pitchers, and both pitched good games outside of the third in ning, when Clarke was found for six hits Stocktons four runs. After the third inning, however, Clarke got down to business against five by Van Haltren.

The ex-Chicago man played great ball and the San Franciscos were unable to do anything with his delivery, getting but four hits and no two in the same inning. With the exception of Hanley the San Franciscos put up a great fielding game, P. Sweeney on first raking in everything, streets, and left his heavy phaeton and Shea accepted some difficult chances at horse hitched in front of his resishort. But to Stockwell belongs the honor of the most brilliant play of the game. Powers sent a hot line hit to short right, when he looked for his vehicle it was and Stockwell made a great run, hitting the ball with the tips of his fingers, but recovered it before it could touch the ground Donahue was badly scared and rattled b the crowd in the grand stand, who hissed at him for five minutes upon his calling Wilson out for not touching first. SOMETHING CONCERNING AN OLD TIME ESTABLISHMENT.

The Advantages of This Trade Center and the Relation of the "Red House" to Them.

In reviewing the history and present condition of the business houses of Sacramento, one of the earliest of the large establishments that by its commercial prominence suggests itself, is that of "THE RED House TRADE UNION," more familiarly known as "The Red House," situated at Good scores were the rule at the ranges known as "The Red House," situated at yesterday. Colonel Guthrie and staff first 714 and 716 J street and 713 and 715 Oak weeks, he called one day at the kitchen

From a simple, small and crowded storeroom his establishment has widened and

The establishment is divided into fourteen departments, the names of which sufficiently indicate the varied character of the stock carried. The J-street floor first on the east contains the boot and shoe de-partment, eighty feet deep; opposite, the clothing department, eighty feet; and to the rear of this the hat and the men's and youth's furnishing departments, each eighty feet deep. Next on the west and front is the fancy goods department, each side, and adjoining it the dry goods and the cloak and wraps departments. To the rear of these, and running back to the rear wall, is the millingry small and millingry small millingry millin is the millinery supply and millinery man-

On the Oak-avenue floor, to which stairways lead from those already named, on the east comes the department of trunks, has just been released from the State Prison valises, etc., supplemented by carpet rugs, on the west side of this section. The re-mainder of this floor is occupied by the department of toys, of which, as we write, an enormous stock is being unloaded. On the west twenty feet of the Oak avenue floor we find blankets, heavy woolens, etc. and to the rear the offices, rooms desks and appliances of the country order department. The country order business, by the way, if not originated by Mr. Gilman, certainly credits him with being a pioneer of the system. There are upwards of fifty employes in the establishment, distributed among the several departments, and these are engaged for special fitness for their several tasks. Concerning the stock carried by the Red House, it is to be said that Mr. Gilman keeps buyers in the Eastern and home markets, who purchase for him di-rect, and the middle man is thus eliminated from the Red House sys tem. In many departments the supplies are made to the order of the house. Thus, in the matter of boots and shoes, of which an enormous stock is carried, they are manu-factured at the East expressly for the house and to meet the exact demand of its trade, upon the pulse of which Mr. Gilman has so long kept his finger that he knows pre-cisely what is wanted. So, too, in clothing and men's furnishing goods, the house commands, by sample of the stock, the manufacture of quality and style, exactly as needed, and this need is always the response to the trade demand of the city,

According to the San Francisco dailies a remedy has been discovered that with almost unerring certainty overcomes constination. It is the new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. She says: "I am willing to relate the following experience. I have for years had a weak stomach attended with constipation,
